

owR is committed to providing owR clients with cutting edge technology and superior service for all your clients and cases. We are excited to offer you multiple electronic platforms to help make selling life insurance easy.

TICK!it

The innovative technology behind Tick!it equips today's financial professionals with the ability to quickly assess their clients' needs for life insurance through a simple, easy-to-use online system and order submission platform. Tick!it is a digital fulfillment and processing platform, to drive business transformation and enable sales growth with new and existing life insurance distribution opportunities.

For the initial launch of the Tick!it platform, it is available for term insurance with AIG, John Hancock, Nationwide, Principal, Protective and Prudential. Additional carriers and products will be added shortly and we will continue to keep you updated.

Tick!it

Technology for today's busy financial professional

The NEW way to submit term insurance

multiple carriers, one application, twelve questions, five minutes \(click here\)

iGO eApp

Through iGO e-app, an intelligent fillable policy application program with embedded specific company rules, owR can now accept applications 24/7. This technology is an example of how owR helps improve your productivity so you can sell more insurance. iGO e-app enables you to electronically complete and process applications to guarantee that they are submitted In Good Order. It also improves carrier processing time allowing you to get paid faster.

{jumi [*3]}

Please contact Beth Frost bethf@owropinion.com for assistance.